Dr. Leslie Korn

Dr. Leslie Korn is a traumatologist who is a renowned expert in Natural and Integrative Medicine for mental health and chronic physical illness. She has provided over 65,000 hours of clinical care by integrating nutritional and herbal medicine, bodywork, yoga, and psychotherapy to help achieve optimal results and reduce pharmaceutical use. She completed her graduate training at Harvard Medical School and the Harvard School of Public Health and holds a Ph.D in Behavioral Medicine, an MPH, and an MA in Health Psychology.

Leslie Korn Institute for Integrative Medicine

The Leslie Korn Institute for Integrative Medicine delivers accredited CE and Certification programs in clinical education for professionals to improve their careers and achieve better client/patient outcomes.

Dr. Korn and her dedicated team seek to transform and humanize health care by providing dynamic educational opportunities in Integrative Medicine that leads to personal satisfaction, advanced expertise, and career advancement.

The institute offers a range of courses from non-credit enrichment courses like Integrative Medicine and Nutrition for Mood and Cognitive Enhancement to Continuing Education credit courses like Nutrition and Integrative Medicine for Diabetes, Cognitive Decline, and Alzheimer's Disease.

About Dr. Leslie Korn

Trained in both, physical health and mental health, she has witnessed the powerful relationships between chronic stress, trauma, chronic illness, and pain. Her experiences working in a remote, indigenous jungle community for 25 years as well as for many years in the “urban jungle” of Boston enabled her to research and test all of these methods on herself and her patients from diverse communities and adopt these principles and practices to diverse environments.

She has had a busy and diverse clinical practice for over 40 years including a telehealth practice for over 20 years.

Dr. Korn directs the Leslie Korn Institute of Integrative Medicine, the premier training institute for continuing post-graduate education for clinicians, and the nonprofit Center for Traditional Medicine, a public health natural medicine center, serving rural and urban indigenous communities in the USA and Mexico.

Dr. Korn has blazed trails by introducing somatic therapies for the treatment of mental illness at Harvard Medical School, where she was a clinical fellow and instructor in Psychology and Religion and as the director of wellness and addiction recovery programs funded by MHFA and HUD in Boston.

She was the principal investigator on an NIH funded grant to study mind Body Medicine and a Fulbright Scholar on Traditional Medicine. She was clinical director at New England School of Acupuncture and Associate Professor at the California Institute of Integral Studies and at the National College of Naturopathic Medicine.

She is a Functional Nutritional Therapy Practitioner, National Board Certified in Polarity therapy and Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork, a Licensed Mental Health Counselor and National Board Approved Clinical Supervisor.
